

Having someone call my house is like letting them in. I should have the right to determine who I do not wish to enter my home. If a business can put up a sign that says "No solicitation", I should have the right to not have to deal with solicitation in my home.